YOUR JOURNEY. YOUR COMMUNITY. YOUR IMPACT.

THE LEGEND OF THE SEAWOLF

UAA's athletic teams were not always called the Seawolves. The original team name was the "Sourdoughs," a reference that many only associated with a kind of bread. Wanting a replacement, UAA's first athletic director and basketball coach Bob Rachal went to the library in search of inspiration, looking for something formidable and distinctive from Alaska's rich cultural history. He found what he was looking for in the Tlingit legend of Gonakadet, also known as Wasco or Sea Wolf. The man/creature in the legend was strong, generous and humble. He also had the power to transform. What better character to represent an athletic team! Rachal had found his new mascot and used the image that accompanied the story as the first Seawolf logo in 1977.

ONCE A SEAWOLF, ALWAYS A SEAWOLF.

THE STAR-SPANGLED BANNER

Oh, say, can you see,
By the dawn's early light,
What so proudly we hailed
At the twilight's last gleaming?
Whose broad stripes and bright stars,
Through the perilous fight,
O'er the ramparts we watched,
Were so gallantly streaming?
And the rockets' red glare,
The bombs bursting in air,
Gave proof through the night
That our flag was still there.
Oh, say, does that Star-Spangled Banner yet wave
O'er the land of the free
And the home of the brave?

Francis Scott Key

ALASKA'S FLAG SONG

Eight stars of gold on a field of blue,
Alaska's flag, may it mean to you;
The blue of the sea, the evening sky,
The mountain lakes and the flow'rs nearby;
The gold of the early sourdough's dreams,
The precious gold of the hills and streams;
The brilliant stars in the northern sky,
The "Bear," the "Dipper," and, shining high,
The great North Star with its steady light,
O'er land and sea a beacon bright,
Alaska's flag to Alaskans dear,
The simple flag of a last frontier.

HONORARY DEGREE AWARD

THE HONORABLE FRANK MURKOWSKI

Honorary Doctor of Laws

Frank H. Murkowski was born in 1933 and raised in Ketchikan, Alaska. He graduated from Seattle University in 1955 with a degree in economics. After serving in the U.S. Coast Guard until 1957, he attended Pacific Coast Banking School and joined Pacific National Bank in Seattle. In 1960, he returned to Alaska for a career with National Bank of Alaska and worked in Anchorage and Wrangell. Murkowski was appointed as commissioner of the Alaska Department of Commerce. At age 33, he was the youngest member of Governor Hickel's cabinet. In 1971, Murkowski became president of Alaska National Bank of the North, and his family moved to Fairbanks. He also served as president of the Alaska Bankers Association and the Alaska State Chamber of Commerce.

In 1980, Murkowski was elected to the United States Senate, beginning 22 years of service on behalf of Alaska. As senator, he chaired the Senate Energy and Natural Resources Committee. He also served on the Finance, Indian Affairs and Veterans Affairs committees, as well as the Senate Select Committee on Intelligence. Murkowski was elected Governor of Alaska in 2002. As governor, he focused on revitalizing the state's economy through resource development and strengthening education and public safety. He was also a long-time leader in the fight against substance abuse.

Frank and his wife Nancy have been married for more than 70 years. Their six children and most of their grandchildren and great-grandchildren live in Alaska. Frank and Nancy reside in Wrangell, where they enjoy time in their boat, crabbing and fishing. Frank also enjoys writing opinion pieces for various publications and continues to be passionate about resource and economic development in Alaska.

NICHOLAS GALANIN

Honorary Doctor of Humane Letters

Nicholas Galanin, a Tlingit and Unanga^á artist from Sitka, has made significant contributions to contemporary Indigenous art. Born in 1979, Galanin’s educational journey began at the University of Alaska Southeast and led him to London Guildhall University, where he earned a B.F.A. in jewelry design and silversmithing in 2003. He completed his M.F.A. in Indigenous visual arts at Massey University in New Zealand in 2007.

Galanin’s diverse body of work spans sculpture, installation, photography and performance, exploring themes of colonialism, cultural appropriation and Indigenous resilience. His art is featured in prominent collections, including the Museum of Modern Art, the Whitney Museum of American Art and the Seattle Art Museum. Key exhibitions include the Liverpool Biennial, Desert X Biennial and Biennale of Sydney.

Galanin has received numerous accolades for his artistic achievements, including the 2023 Joan Mitchell Fellowship, the 2020 Gwendolyn Knight Lawrence Award in Art from the Academy of Arts and Letters and the 2020 Soros Arts Fellowship.

In addition to his visual art, Galanin has pursued a dynamic music career under the alias of Silver Jackson, blending Indigenous sounds with contemporary influences. He co-founded HomeSkillet Records and its eponymous summer music festival in Sitka. His most recent musical project, titled Ya Tseen, is signed with label Sub Pop Records and is set to release in July 2025.

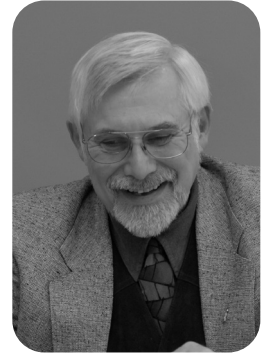

Galanin is also a dedicated mentor, working with young artists in his community. His work and advocacy have made a profound impact, earning him recognition and respect both within the Indigenous community and the broader art world.

MERITORIOUS SERVICE AWARD

STEPHEN HAYCOX

Meritorious Service Award

Stephen W. Haycox was hired to found the Department of History at what was then called Anchorage Senior College. After 40 years, he retired, having won the Alaska Governor's Award for Distinguished Service to the Humanities and the University of Alaska's Bullock Prize. He was promoted to Distinguished Professor Emeritus of History, one of very few UAA professors to receive that honor.

Haycox also served as director of the Forty-Ninth State Fellows Program in UAA's University Honors College. During this time, he took on extra teaching duties and extensive summer travel with the Fellows. Half a generation of Alaska students still benefit from the education they received in the program he directed.

Among academic historians, Haycox is one of the leading writers of Alaska history today and has published many books, more than 30 professional articles, as well as the occasional opinion piece for the Anchorage Daily News. He is an active member and former president of both the Alaska Historical and Cook Inlet Historical Society, as well as former chair and member of the boards of the Alaska Humanities Forum, as well as many other civic organizations. His works help students, members of the Alaska public and readers in other states understand Alaska's complex history and the challenges our state and its people face.

Since his retirement, Haycox has continued to offer distinguished service to the University of Alaska and to the Anchorage community, serving actively on the Meritorious Service Award Committee and participating in many university and community events.

KATHIE BETHARD

Meritorious Service Award

When Kathie Bethard puts her mind to something, there is no stopping her. In 2020, she led the Alaska community in the daunting task of raising $3 million, mostly from new donors to UAA, to save the UAA hockey program, which was slated for elimination. That task is formidable in the best of circumstances, but the pandemic only enhanced Bethard’s drive, innovation and commitment to the cause.

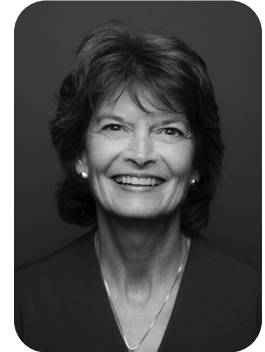

Bethard led the charge to mobilize more than 1,200 donors to contribute a total of $3 million, the amount necessary to cover two years of operating expenses for the current program. She helped the community understand the importance of Seawolf Hockey.

While the Seawolf Hockey fundraising endeavor is the most recent and notable of her achievements, Bethard is not new to volunteering. She was a longtime volunteer leader of the UAA Blueliner Booster club and served on Anchorage’s Olympic organizing committee for both the ‘92 and ‘94 bids for the Games. Similarly, she ran the officials for the worldwide Special Olympics Games floor hockey, served as a volunteer soccer coach for four years and managed the AK All-Stars hockey program for 15 years. Additionally, Bethard served on the board of directors for the Anchorage Hockey Association for seven years, managed the Pre-High School Russian Jack Fall League for 12 years, and was co-chairman for the World Junior’s Hockey tournament in 1990, the most prestigious tournament ever held in Alaska. Simply put, her volunteer efforts, especially those in Alaska athletics, have had positive, lasting impacts on the community.

HONORED COMMENCEMENT SPEAKER

SEN. LISA MURKOWSKI

Lisa Murkowski, Alaska's senior United States senator, is a third-generation Alaskan proudly serving as the first Alaska-born senator. Murkowski was born in Ketchikan and raised in towns across the state, including Wrangell, Juneau, Fairbanks and Anchorage. She is married to Verne Martell and they have two grown sons. Sen. Murkowski loves spending time outdoors in Alaska. She's an avid skier, has hiked on glaciers, enjoys fall duck hunts and has a pretty impressive king salmon mounted on her office wall.

Since joining the Senate in 2002, Sen. Murkowski has worked tirelessly for Alaskans and earned a reputation in the Senate for her ability to work collaboratively and across the aisle to reach common sense solutions. Murkowski is well-known for her love and dedication to her state, which means putting Alaska first.

A leader on energy and public land issues, Sen. Murkowski recognizes that sound national policy will not only promote job creation and economic growth, but also higher standards of living and greater global stability. She supports the safe and efficient production and use of all forms of domestic energy and research to help develop emerging technologies. Sen. Murkowski continues to pursue policies to advance renewable energy, increase energy efficiency and make America's energy cleaner, more affordable and more reliable.

Sen. Murkowski has long advocated for the Arctic as a national priority and continues to push the U.S. to invest in the infrastructure and assets critical to supporting an Arctic strategy. She is leading the charge to recapitalize and expand America's fleet of icebreakers. She has introduced legislation to raise the nation's presence in the Arctic through two bills that support responsible research and development and will give those living in the region a greater voice on policy and research.

She is a member of the Senate Appropriations Committee (Subcommittees—Commerce, Justice, Science and Related Agencies; Defense; Energy and Water Development; Homeland Security; Military Construction, Veterans Affairs and Related Agencies), ranking member of the Interior-Environment Subcommittee, member of the Senate Energy and Natural Resources Committee, member of the Senate Health, Education, Labor and Pensions Committee and chairman of the Senate Indian Affairs Committee.

STUDENT SPEAKER

ALBIONA SELIMI

Community is at the heart of spring 2025 undergraduate commencement speaker Albiona Selimi's UAA experience and her message to the graduating class.

"I love the community I've formed here. I've met inspirational professors who have shaped my passions and made lifelong friendships," said Selimi, a Wasilla High School graduate drawn to UAA for its affordability and closeness to home, only to be pleasantly surprised by its abundance of opportunities. "It's such a warm and welcoming place, where you can see firsthand the care and passion that students, staff and faculty put into improving the environment."

Graduating summa cum laude with a Bachelor of Arts in political science and minors in women's studies and justice, Selimi hopes to eventually practice law at a civil rights organization. She credits the interconnectedness of her undergraduate studies with allowing her to bring fresh, nuanced perspectives to each.

"I've really loved the way this trio has complemented each other," said Selimi. "I love making the connections between topics, especially because these three areas of study are so deeply intertwined."

As rewarding and inspirational as she found her studies, Selimi also commends her non-academic experiences with augmenting her UAA experience. In her first year, she joined UAA's student government, USUAA, to represent and advocate for other students. Recognizing her aptitude for the role, Selimi's fellow USUAA members encouraged her to apply for the student regent role with the UA Board of Regents — a competitive two-year, volunteer position with full voting powers on the board. Selimi began her board term in 2023 after being elected by her peers, appointed by the governor and confirmed by the Legislature.

"Since then, I feel I've made meaningful contributions to the UA community, including advocating for student interests and ensuring their voices are heard at the Board of Regents level," said Selimi.

The aspiring lawyer also gained legal experience through internships with the Alaska Innocence Project and the State of Alaska's Office of Administrative Hearings. Next on her journey, Selimi plans to attend law school in the fall with support from the Truman Scholarship, a prestigious award for aspiring public service leaders.

"I'm still torn on what particular field I want to pursue, but an abundance of options is never a bad thing in my book," said Selimi. "I've taken so many invigorating courses at UAA that have made me passionate about a variety of issues, like criminal justice reform, voting rights and constitutional law."

No matter what Selimi decides, community will continue to guide her. Similarly, she encourages her classmates to do good in the world regardless of what field they choose.

"I believe that we have a collective responsibility to each other; the whole 'you don't owe anyone anything' mentality never sat right with me. As human beings, we owe each other a lot, including empathy, compassion and collaboration."

GRADUATE STUDENT SPEAKER

PIPER JONES

For Piper Yuknis Jones, Wendler Middle School teacher, educational leadership alumna and graduate student commencement speaker for the spring Class of 2025, teaching is all about the “light bulb moment” — the instant when a student’s confusion turns into understanding.

Born in Anchorage and raised in Palmer, where her mother worked as a special education teacher and her father as a dentist, Jones had her own lightbulb moment in seventh grade. Struggling in math and science, she found support in teachers who stayed after school to help her succeed. By eighth grade, things clicked, and she decided she wanted to follow in the footsteps of her mother and teachers by becoming an educator herself.

Jones pursued her dream by earning a bachelor’s degree in elementary education with a minor in math from the University of New Mexico. But as soon as she graduated, she knew she had to return to Alaska. Upon her homecoming, she landed her first teaching job at Wendler where she quickly became known not just as a dedicated teacher, but as someone always willing to lend a hand. Whether it was organizing dances, designing flyers or planning spirit days, she embraced every task with the motto passed down from her father: “When you have a job to do, do it well, quickly and with a smile.”

Her leadership potential didn’t go unnoticed, and colleagues began encouraging Jones to consider a position in administration. Tucking that thought in the back of her mind while she focused on raising her children, she eventually decided to pursue a master’s degree in educational leadership at UAA.

“I never thought of going anywhere else other than UAA,” said Jones. “I wanted to do this right and show that I want to be here. This is where I am.”

For Jones, attending UAA was the obvious choice. Staying local allowed her to maintain strong ties to her community and gave her the flexibility to meet with professors face-to-face if needed. As an added bonus, she found herself surrounded by a like-minded cohort of fellow educators. Together, they formed a tight-knit study group that became both an academic resource and a personal lifeline.

Though she spent 20 years teaching math, Jones eventually transitioned to teaching physical education, taking advantage of her own history as a collegiate athlete. As a P.E. teacher for the last eight years, she has been able to scale up her passion for organization from a single classroom to an entire gymnasium. Similarly, she hopes to use her expertise and new degree to one day become an assistant principal.

“Being a teacher is about showing young minds that if you see something that needs to change, make a change,” said Jones. “I want to be an assistant principal to make change. If I can’t, then I’ll stay where I am and make change there.”

*Piper Jones spoke during the Graduate Degree Hooding Ceremony on Saturday, May 3, 2025.

WELCOME

Dear Seawolves,

Congratulations to the spring graduating Class of 2025! Today, we celebrate you! You have worked hard to get here, and your dedication to your education has equipped you to achieve your goals.

Thank you for choosing to be part of our UAA community. At UAA, we have been honored to create opportunities for you through education, research and through your own great work.

Commencement marks a new beginning — a bright future — for you, our newest graduates. Our Seawolf family of more than 71,000 alumni are here to support you. You can be proud to call yourself a UAA graduate, and I am certain you will make a positive impact in our world.

Congratulations, and all the best!

WELCOME

Dear UAA Class of 2025,

Congratulations! Today, you join the ranks of thousands of proud University of Alaska alumni who are building, leading and innovating for Alaska's future.

Graduation is a remarkable accomplishment. I am immensely proud of all you have achieved during your time at UAA and the dedication and hard work that have brought you to this significant milestone.

This realization of your potential empowers you to transform your life, seek new opportunities and achieve more than you ever imagined. The challenges you have overcome to complete your programs have prepared you to contribute to Alaska's economy and communities.

Alaska needs your insight, creativity and enthusiasm like never before. Our state counts on you to apply your skills and talents in your selected fields. You are our educators, engineers, health care experts and entrepreneurs. Your education at UAA has equipped you to be the leaders of tomorrow.

While today is about you, there are many people you'll never be able to thank enough. As much as the university leadership, faculty and staff celebrate your success, nothing can compare to the support of your families, friends and loved ones.

Remember, you are never alone in your journey: you have a network of alumni, faculty, staff and supporters cheering for your success. I encourage you to make an effort to plug into those networks as you stay connected, curious and engaged with the world around you.

Congratulations, Seawolves! I wish you all the best as you take on new challenges and opportunities. I know you'll positively impact our state and world.

Sincerely,

ACADEMIC TRADITIONS

Robes, Mortarboards, Hoods

An academic legend tells of a wise old Greek who dressed his students in mason’s sackcloth robes with mortarboards because “Their destiny is to build. Some will build cities, some will build lives – perhaps one of them will build an empire; but all will be builders on the solid foundation of knowledge.”

Whether or not the ancient Greek dressed his students in sackcloth and mortarboard, the academic robes worn today by graduates and faculty trace their beginnings to the mid-12th century, when small groups studied under the tutelage of a scholar (often a monk or priest). These students chose to dress in a robe similar to that of their teacher. Through the centuries, this traditional scholarly dress did not change much. Each individual scholar donned special colors, fur and fabrics, as did his students. In contrast to those Old World customs, today’s academic robe has a basic organization that allows you to identify even more about the scholar.

Today’s scholars are the university faculty. They wear academic robes with colorful hoods reminiscent of the medieval monk’s cowl. The size and colors of the hood tell the observer what discipline the scholar pursued and from which college or university he or she graduated.

UAA master’s degree graduates will be wearing their hoods today, for they have gone beyond the bachelor’s degree to learn more and become scholars. The University of Alaska Anchorage’s colors are gold and green, hence these colors on the hood. The velvet trim on the hood signifies the scholar’s field.

Some colleges and universities use the soft beret, but the prevailing style of cap is the traditional square mortarboard decorated with a long tassel. You may notice some faculty wearing a soft beret-style cap.

It does not matter whether the tassel is worn on the left or right of the mortarboard, but it is often customary to change the tassel to the other side after receiving the diploma.

While you may not be able to identify the origins of each specific academic robe and hood appearing in today's commencement ceremony, you can reflect that from the certificate graduate in his black gown to the Doctor of Philosophy, students and professors alike are paying homage to more than 800 years of academic tradition.

University Mace

The grand marshal carries the University of Alaska Anchorage mace in the commencement procession and places it in a stand on the stage during commencement ceremonies to signify the importance of the occasion. The UAA Alumni Association commissioned the mace in 1990 and two talented UAA employees created it. Dr. Vern Oremus, former dean of UAA's previous College of Career and Vocational Education, used a lathe to create the wooden staff and head. Professor of Art Mariano Gonzales designed and produced the sterling silver torch at the top of the mace. The mace symbolizes UAA as a university of distinction and is traditionally entrusted to the faculty in recognition of their critical role in the education of our students.

GRADUATING WITH HONORS

UNIVERSITY HONORS

Associate and baccalaureate degree students who are expected to graduate with honors in spring 2025 are wearing a gold honor cord. Throughout the program, they are recognized by the stars next to their names. Honors are indicated as follows:

Cum Laude* Magna Cum Laude Summa Cum Laude

To be eligible to graduate with honors, associate and baccalaureate degree-seeking students must earn a cumulative GPA of 3.50 or above at UAA. Additionally, a student who is earning an associate degree must complete a minimum of 15 UAA resident credits, and a student who is earning a baccalaureate degree must complete a minimum of 30 UAA resident credits. Honors are awarded to associate and baccalaureate degree students with UAA cumulative GPAs as follows:

*Cum Laude.....	3.50 to 3.74
Magna Cum Laude.....	3.75 to 3.89
Summa Cum Laude.....	3.90 to 4.00

DEPARTMENTAL HONORS

ACCOUNTING DEPARTMENTAL HONORS

To graduate with Departmental Honors in Accounting, students must be a declared Associate of Applied Science in Accounting or Bachelor of Business Administration in Accounting major; satisfy all degree requirements for their degree program; meet the requirements for graduation with honors as published in the UAA catalog; complete 50% of business credits at UAA; and graduate with a cumulative UAA GPA of 3.75 or higher.

Mary C. Daly Renae L. Dewberry Jenna C. Smith

ANTHROPOLOGY DEPARTMENTAL HONORS

To graduate with Departmental Honors in Anthropology, students must be a declared anthropology major. In addition, students must satisfy all requirements for a Bachelor of Arts in Anthropology, maintain a GPA of 3.50 or above in program courses and complete a senior thesis project based on library, laboratory or field research resulting in a substantial, thesis-quality paper defended before the anthropology faculty.

Alyssa L. Hill

BIOLOGICAL SCIENCES DEPARTMENTAL HONORS

To graduate with Departmental Honors in Biological Sciences, students must be a declared biological sciences major. In addition, students must meet the requirements for graduation with honors as published in the UAA catalog, meet the requirements for a Bachelor of Arts or Bachelor of Science in Biological Sciences, and earn a GPA of 3.50 or above in major requirements. During the senior year of their academic program, students must complete BIOL A499 Senior Thesis with a minimum grade of B. This includes completion of a thesis research project. Biological Sciences faculty members must approve the project proposal and final written report.

Rebekah N. Bien-Aime Amber L. Richardson

CHEMISTRY DEPARTMENTAL HONORS

To graduate with Departmental Honors in Chemistry, students must be a declared chemistry major; satisfy all requirements for the Bachelor of Science in Chemistry; meet the requirements for graduation with honors as published in the UAA catalog; and maintain a cumulative GPA of 3.50 in chemistry classes. In addition, students must complete, with distinction, a written assignment in the style of a chemical journal based on the research performed by the student or publicly present their research findings at a conference. Students must notify the Departmental Honors Committee in writing at the time they file their Application for Graduation with the Office of the Registrar that they intend to graduate with departmental honors.

Amber L. Richardson

CIVIL ENGINEERING DEPARTMENTAL HONORS

To graduate with Departmental Honors in Civil Engineering, students must complete all requirements for a Bachelor of Science in Civil Engineering. In addition, the student must successfully complete 30 credits applicable to the civil engineering degree with a GPA of 3.30 and be an active member for at least one year of both a national and an on-campus student chapter of a professional engineering society that addresses issues relevant to the civil engineering profession. The student must also either complete a design or research project, including an oral and written report, or document a minimum of eight weeks of work experience in an engineering or engineering-related position, or pass the Fundamentals of Engineering Exam.

Sean Q. Gonzales Aaron M. Hippler

COMPUTER SCIENCE DEPARTMENTAL HONORS

To graduate with Departmental Honors in Computer Science, students must be a declared computer science major, meet the requirements for graduation with honors as published in the UAA catalog, satisfy all requirements for a Bachelor of Arts or Bachelor of Science in Computer Science and maintain a cumulative GPA of 3.50 or above in their major requirements. In addition, students must complete 12 upper-division credits required for the major in residence.

HONOR SOCIETIES

BETA GAMMA SIGMA HONOR SOCIETY

Beta Gamma Sigma was founded as a national organization in 1913. Membership in Beta Gamma Sigma is the highest recognition a business student anywhere in the world can receive in an undergraduate or master’s program at a school accredited by AACSB International – The Association to Advance Collegiate Schools of Business. AACSB-accredited schools are recognized as the top business schools in the world; only 5% of schools pass their rigorous standards for quality. To be eligible for membership, a student must be in the top 10% of the undergraduate class or in the top 20% of the graduate class. The mission of Beta Gamma Sigma is to encourage and honor academic achievement and personal excellence in the study and practice of business. Beta Gamma Sigma also strives to foster in its members an enduring commitment to the principles and values of the Society: honor and integrity. Beta Gamma Sigma members may be recognized by a blue and gold honor cord.

DELTA ALPHA PI INTERNATIONAL HONOR SOCIETY

Delta Alpha Pi International Honor Society (DAPI) is an academic honor society founded to recognize high-achieving students with disabilities who are attending colleges (including community colleges) and universities as undergraduate or graduate students. Founded in 2004 at East Stroudsburg University of Pennsylvania, DAPI is open to undergraduate and graduate students with disabilities. Students initiated into Delta Alpha Pi International Honor Society must have completed 24 undergraduate credits and have an overall GPA of 3.10, or 18 graduate credits and a GPA of 3.30. Students must self-identify as an individual with a disability and demonstrate an interest in disability issues. Delta Alpha Pi International Honor Society (DAPI) is an opportunity for students with disabilities to be recognized for their academic accomplishments. The honor society helps facilitate leadership, advocacy, and education for all students who choose to participate and help change negative perceptions associated with disabilities.

Congratulations to the Class of 2025!

Dear UAA Graduates,

On behalf of the UAA Alumni Association, it is my distinct pleasure to congratulate you on reaching this monumental milestone — your graduation! This is a day of celebration, not only for your many academic accomplishments, but for the incredible journey that has led you here. We hope you read this letter with great pride. Your perseverance, dedication and commitment have brought you to this point, and WE could not be prouder to welcome you as new members to our esteemed alumni community.

As you begin the next chapter of your life, we want to take this opportunity to remind you that you are not walking this path alone. The UAA Alumni Association is here to support you, whether you plan to continue your studies, embark on a new career or pursue personal aspirations. We are a network and community of individuals who share a common bond and a shared experience as part of Seawolf Nation — once a Seawolf, always a Seawolf!

The values and lessons instilled in you during your time at UAA will serve as your compass in navigating both the challenges and opportunities that lie ahead. Your story is just beginning, and we have no doubt that you will continue to make your mark in meaningful ways. As you do so, please take advantage of the resources available through the Office of Alumni and Community Engagement. Whether it's through career services, events or giving back to the university, there are numerous ways to stay engaged and contribute to the future success of UAA. Our association is a place where you can find mentorship, professional development and lifelong friendships. You are now part of a growing global network of more than 71,000 alumni making an impact in their communities, industries and beyond.

Congratulations, once again, on your significant achievement! We look forward to seeing all the incredible things you will accomplish and hope to stay connected as you continue to grow and thrive.

Welcome to the Seawolf alumni family! May you forever be Green and Gold!
